

EGBE ORUN

The Egbe Community...is where every human being would have belonged before coming to this earth realm. A person's destiny on earth is predetermined before leaving the heavens and their particular Egbe community.

Egbe is a Yoruba word, which literally means society or groups. Orun means heaven. Therefore, Egbe Orun means society/group in heaven. Egbe Orun is our spirit group or companions associated with us in heaven. They are our spiritual companions who lived with us, enjoyed us, played with us in the realm of spirit from where we came, and have agreed to watch over us, protect and guide us, as we choose to be born into this realm.

Often times when a soul chooses to incarnate to earth, they will leave their spirit husband or wives and family, some will make the promise to return at a certain point. Once you have incarnated on earth you forgot these agreements, you forget your spiritual family in heaven. Your Egbe will do things to get your attention, to try to make you remember them and make good on your promises. Oftentimes these can be disruptive situations. You can have an Egbe Divination to learn about your particular Egbe Community, the Odu associated with your Egbe, how to pray, feed, and communicate with your Egbe for creating peace and harmony. Once you have your Egbe Divination you will receive a complete booklet on Your Egbe Orun Community.

There are many Egbe Orun communities. The Ifa Foundation currently has knowledge of the following Egbe Orun Communities: Iyalorde, Jagun, Eleriko, Baale, Olugbogero, Adetayanya, Olumohun, Kori Koto / Asipa, and Iyalaje.

When the re-connection with your Egbe Orun is made, you will really feel a great flow of relevance. With this energy alignment, each person can feel elevated and an expanded sphere of creative energy to work with. Egbe Orun is important to honor.

For an even greater connection with your Egbe Orun, you may also receive your Egbe Pot and Tools from the Ifa Foundation. www.spiritualtools.org
